Animal magnetism, also known as mesmerism, was the name given by German doctor Franz Mesmer in the 18th century to what he believed to be an invisible natural force (Lebensmagnetismus) possessed by all living things, including humans, animals, and vegetables. He believed that the force could have physical effects, including healing, and he tried persistently but without success to achieve ...

Electricity is the set of physical phenomena associated with the presence and motion of matter that has a property of electric charge. In early days, electricity was considered as being not related to magnetism. Later on, many experimental results and the development of Maxwell's equations indicated that both electricity and magnetism are from a single phenomenon: electromagnetism.

Electricity - Wikipedia

Electricity is the presence and flow of electric charge. Its best-known form is the flow of electrons through conductors such as copper wires.. The word "electricity" is sometimes used to mean "electrical energy". They are not the same thing - electricity is a transmission medium for electrical energy, like sea water is a transmission medium for wave energy.
