A differential equation can be homogeneous in either of two respects.. A first order differential equation is said to be homogeneous if it may be written $(\cdot)' = (\cdot)$, where f and g are homogeneous functions of the same degree of x and y . In this case, the change of variable $y = ux$ leads to an equation of the form $= (\cdot)$, which is easy to solve by integration of the two members.

Consider Figure 1 on the right, which shows the forces acting on a simple pendulum. Note that the path of the pendulum sweeps out an arc of a circle. The angle \hat{I} , is measured in radians, and this is crucial for this formula. The blue arrow is the gravitational force acting on the bob, and the violet arrows are that same force resolved into components parallel and perpendicular to the bob's ...
